II-Reading Comprehension (7 m)

Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions below:

Arabian camels have only one hump, but they employ it to great effect. The hump stores up to 36 kilograms of fat, which a camel can break down into water and energy when sustenance is not available. These humps give camels their legendary ability to travel up to 161 kilometers without water. Camels rarely sweat, even in desert temperatures when they do take in fluids they can conserve them for long periods of time. In winter, even desert plants may hold enough moisture to allow a camel to live without water for several weeks.

Other adaptations help Arabian camels thrive in desert conditions. Their nostrils close to keep sand at bay, and they have bushy eyebrows and two rows of long eyelashes to protect their eyes. Large, tough lips enable them to pick at dry and thorny desert vegetation. Big, thick footpads help them navigate the rough rocky terrain and shifting desert sands. Some cultures judge a person's wealth based on the number of camels they own. The Arabian camels are found in northern Africa and southwestern Asia.

Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions below:

Ali and Saleh were close friends. They planned to go hunting in the woods. They prepared their bags. While they were walking through the forest, they heard a bear growl. They were very scared and started to run away, but they could hear the bear's steps coming towards them. Ali quickly climbed on top of a tree. He was so scared that he did not even look at his friend.

Saleh, who was behind Ali, was not so lucky. The bear was behind him. Saleh threw himself on the ground. The bear found him not even breathing. The bear smelled him to know if he was dead. Then, the bear had decided that Saleh was dead and went back into the forest because bears don't eat dead bodies.

The danger was over. Ali slowly climbed down the tree, walking up to Saleh, who couldn't stand. Ali was laughing and asked, "What did Mr Bear whisper to you?". Saleh was so angry from Ali; He looked at him and said, It told me never trust a friend who leaves you at the first chance he gets."

PASSAGE (1)

Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions below:

After shopping for three hours, an old lady got tired and imagined that her basket was growing heavier. In the lift, she was dreaming of a delicious lunch and good rest, but when she arrived at the flat, she forgot all about her dream. To her surprise, she noticed that the door and the window of her bedroom were opened.

She couldn't go around all the rooms again because of her old age. So she called the doorman to help her. He came and went up to her flat. They didn't touch anything to help the police find the fingerprints. The doorman phoned the police who arrived at once. The police officer checked everything, but he didn't find anything except a handbag on the floor near the window. When she was asked, the old lady reported that it was not hers.
