VI- READING COMPREHENSION (20 Marks)

I took French for two years in school and all I can remember is bonjour and au revoir . But why is it so difficult to learn a second language? If you studied a language in school, why are you still unable to carry out a simple conversation? So how can we learn a new language fast? Here are a few tips.

Put yourself in a situation where you have to use the new language. Think about it, if you had the option of using your native language, you most probably will. It's just how our brains work. We feel better using Arabic but if you didn't have that choice, you will use whatever vocabulary you have learned. Some people say the best way to learn a new language is to live in the country where that language is spoken. That is mostly true. Listening and speaking are the best tools to acquire a new language.

Fluency over Accuracy. Fluency is the ability to express yourself easily even if you make mistakes. Accuracy on the other hand means speaking perfectly without any mistakes in grammar or pronunciation. So be brave and don't worry about making mistakes.

If you know someone interested in learning the same language try to pair up. Make plans to meet and practice. This can be a great time to practice your skills with each other.

Learning a new language can be fun, rewarding and beneficial. It's not easy but with practice and a strong will, you can do it.
